Rci 2990 cb tricks

I was in Missouri, so I put my spare gear in the truck and put the pressure on. What if I set 32Mhz tr/rx to 29.99? 1.9 Set the mode selector to AM. Follow @cbdiotalk Lonesome ONE NEW DUCK Post: 3 Reached: July 28, 2007, 12:24 pm 14 #91816 Post by Lonesome ONE ^ July 29, 2007, 12:43 pm I had one that had the same problem. If you're "gutsy," you can tune L10, L13, L14, L34, and L46 to AM mode for a few more watts. All of this was done WITHOUT CHARGE due to my inconvenience of having to bring it back. If you're in an emergency situation, however, don't worry about manners. If you place the jumper on pins P1 and P2, you will have 26,000-32,000Mhz. Adjust L19, L48, L47, and L43 for maximum wattmeter reading. If you're having any problems with the locking stations feeling dirty, it's because of the front overload. I think his name is Don. I like the fact that you can easily change the frequency range by moving a couple of jumpers.... If you decide to use a powermike, you will need to change this again. Make sure the music is turned off, as background noise may hinder communication. Come in and ask. However it seemed to be a bit distorted. After "skipping" the radio, you'll need to press the CPU reset button located below J2. First, locate the wiring that runs from the clarifier station to the circuit board. Cut off the wire portion of this diode to deactivate it. Adjust L21 to 1.2 VDC  $\pm 0.1$  1.3 Connect a frequency counter to L61 and adjust VCI for a reading of 10.240 MHz  $\pm 10$ Hz 1.4 Connect a 50 ohm dummy load to the antenna connector 1.5 Connect a frequency counter to pin 3 of IC14. One set already has a jumper on it. Adjust VR12 (SSB high power ALC) for maximum oscillation. 3.10 Set the on FM. You will need to readjust L8 and L9. It is a 1N4148 diode. Leave the frequency counter connected to D45. CAUTION: Alignment should be attempted only by personnel trained in the testing and alignment of RF product. If you drive across the country and the communication is between two vehicles traveling together, agree on an unused channel for communications. lol ya that right click copy, right click past is a useful feature lolol Midlander / 308 BC Canada Follow @cbdiotalk 316 Worldwide & Qualified Posts: 1,462 Reached: January 1, 2007, 8:43 pm Age: 39 15 #54157 Post by 316 ^ January 18, 2007, 8:35 pm I did mine and didn't have a problem and then I got my tech look and he said I did it the way I would have done it which made me feel great. Set the mode dial to AM. Other CB radio operators will help you and the police monitor CB channels. Locate R194 and switch to a 4.7k ohm. As in "Fuddy Duddy" no more than 3 times. Turn on the CB radio, making sure the power is connected. Now take a piece of 6" wire and solder it to the wire stem sticking out of the board (not to the top of the resistor itself). 2) To make this mod, you will need a 1N914 diode and a 50 ohms resistor. Here are some tips to help you use a CB radio system. That's it! Before "Peak Out" the radio, you may wish to change Q51s from a 2SB754 to a 2SB688 or 2SB817. Use mod meter or oscilloscope with RF sampler [85%]. Key the transmitter with no modulation applied and adjust VR13 for 10W [50W]. Enter the transmitter and adjust L28 to 10.6975 MHz  $\pm$  10Hz. Return VR7 approximately to the center of the rotation. On the second day of being there it stopped receiving 27.185. Adjust VC2 for 10,240 MHz  $\pm$  10 Hz. 1.6 Connect a frequency meter to D45 cathode. 2.5 Adjust L8 for the best Sinad reading and the waveform with the minimum distortion on the oscilloscope. I pulled it out tonight and locked on the counter, is Waaaaay Off Freq for some reason. It's time for a new radio and Use this one as a door stop.I would appreciate any information that can give me. Set the sweep selector of the oscilloscope to 1MS per division and the vertical input selector to 10mV per division. Tune tune L15 and L16 for the maximum form D'Wave on oscilloscope.
